Report On Guest Lecture:

Organizational Transformation through Capability Building

A GUEST LECTURE by Mr Sandeep Dava, Learning Partner, L&OD, Dr. Reddy's Labs, Hyderabad was organized at RG Kedia College on 23 July 2022 on the topic "Organizational Transformation through Capability Building."

The distinguished speaker emphasized that organizations need to be transformed in order to achieve efficiency and competitiveness in the present hyper- competitive business environment. For this purpose, gaps in capabilities of employees must be identified and those capability gaps must be eliminated in a time-bound manner through learning and development initiatives.

The purpose of this lecture is to focus on the way in which principles in different segments are securing successful organisational change through systematically building social capital. It argues that how a school works as a cohesive unit and how people collaborate will ultimately define organisational performance.

organizational transformation which proposes change as endemic to the practice of organizing and hence as enacted through the situated practices of organizational actors as they improvise, innovate, and adjust their work routines over time.

This lecture draws some conclusions and implications for managing change and specifically for improving the learning capability of an organization to the Students.

In this lecture at around 110 students participated and shared their views with the guest and lecture concluded with questions and answers.
